Traffic study

The amount of traffic on Minden's Main Street has fallen off in the past five years, which leaves local business owners wondering why the townships is insisting on a traffic study now. Please see page 2

Apologies

The councillor and resident involved in last Monday's altercation at a Snowdon Council meeting are each extending apologies for their behaviour. Please see page 6.

Chamber support

County Council is reconsidering its financial backing of the Chamber of Commerce after a recent election prompted resignations from the staff. Please see page 6.

Surprising costs

Plans to dress up downtown Minden under the PRIDE program are in question. Tenders for the project have shown the work may be far more costly than anticipated. Please see page 8.

Severances postponed

The County Land Division Committee has deferred final severance approval for the townhouse project on Parkside Crescent. Please see page 25.

The Village Green may soon be a thing of the past. It was confirmed last week that Minden Council is negotiating the sale of this downtown parkette and the 20-space parking lot which fronts on Peck Street. The proposal has concerned some of the downtown merchants.

Minden's Village Green is up for sale

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Village Green in downtown Minden is up for sale by the township.

Rumours that the small parkette, and the 20-space municipal parking lot behind it, are being sold were confirmed last Wednesday night at a meeting of Minden's Business Improvement Area (BIA).

At the meeting, attended by a dozen downtown business owners and municipal councillor Lewis Stevens, several BIA members confronted Stevens with the rumours and asked that he either confirm or deny the sale.

Stevens admitted that a deal to sell the property is in progress, but said nothing has been finalized. He said he didn't know many of the details of the sale.

The money from the sale of the property will go into the parks department reserve fund, and Stevens said that the money is needed to pay for the necessary work on Minden's arena and recreation centre.

Repairs are needed because corrosive material used in the construction of the arena has corroded the steel girders in the building's frame.

The repair work is expected to take place sometime next summer.

The main concerns expressed by the members of the BIA were the loss of the parking lot fronting on Peck Street and the process that council used to dispose of the property.

Snowdon can't ban strippers

Snowdon Township has no way of preventing exotic dancers from performing at the Gelert Gardens, but some councillors are optimistic that this form of entertainment will not be presented for long.

At last Monday's council meeting, Clerk Ernie Hills reported on his discussions with the township solicitor. He told council that the municipality has no legal authority to prohibit this through legislation. Although there are avenues that can work in urban areas, Hills said these are not effective in rural municipalities.

Hills said the solicitor advised against imposing "onerous legislation" to force the establishment to stop offering this form of entertainment. He said he was advised that this would be viewed as an act of bad faith or discriminatory action by council.

Louise Weber, who lives directly across the road from Gelert Gardens has complained to council about the exotic dancers. However, at last Monday's meeting, she said her main problem is with the excessive noise coming from the parking lot after the bar is closed.

Township overruled, severance approved

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The County's Land Division Committee has overruled the wishes of Minden Council and granted a severance for the proposed site of a bowling alley.

At their November 13 meeting the members of Land Division decided there was no basis in Minden's zoning by-law or official plan for the application to be rejected.

The application, by developers Terry Clarke and Daryl Moore, was originally rejected by Minden's Planning Advisory Committee at their October 18 meeting. Committee members cited concerns about traffic problems on Bobcaygeon Road as the reason for the refusal.

The property is located on the east side of Bobcaygeon Road across from the Holliday-Rhodes medical clinic. Members of the planning committee expressed concerns about another driveway so close to the corner at the back of the Home Hardware property.

The minutes of the Planning meeting went to Minden Council on Oct. 26 but weren't passed because the names of the mover and seconder had been omitted by error.

While council discussed the minutes, Clarke stood up and read a statement asking council to approve the severance despite the wishes of the planning committee.

"It is our opinion that we are being unfairly discriminated against by the ruse that a road traffic count study is required," said Clarke. He is the son-in-law of Minden Reeve Ray Moore and Daryl Moore is the Reeve's son. Ray Moore has declared a pecuniary interest in this matter and has not been involved in discussions relating to the proposal.

The matter went back to the Nov. 6 meeting of the planning committee where the minutes were corrected. Council passed the corrected minutes and upheld the rejection of the severance at its Nov. 9 meeting.

The final local authority on land severances is the Land Division Committee. It reviews all applications and can either reject or approve severances.

Clarke told Land Division that the severance would leave him with a building lot well within the size requirements for the bowling alley. He said the rejection by the planning committee was due to "political wrangling" and not because of the details of the severance.

Acting chairman Wally Bunn told Clarke that Land Division has no interest in Minden's political wrangling. The committee reviewed the application and noted that the property was already zoned commercial and met all the requirements of Minden's zoning by-law and official plan.

"What's the problem?" asked committee member Bob Bishop. "Let's pass the damn thing and let them appeal it."

An appeal of the Land Division Committee's decision would have to go before the Ontario Municipal Board.

Minden BIA condemns plan for traffic study

Minden's Planning Advisory Committee is also criticized by the local business owners.

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden's downtown businesses have come out against the traffic study of Bobcaygeon Road recommended by the Planning Advisory Committee.

At last Wednesday's meeting of the Business Improvement Area (BIA) a dozen business owners rejected the idea that there is a traffic problem in the downtown core.

They passed a resolution requesting that "any type of a traffic study contemplated by Council for the downtown area and Main Street would have the sole mandate to bring additional traffic and commerce all along the area in question."

Stuart Brandon owner of Northland Sales called the proposed traffic study a "colossal waste of money." He said there is substantially less traffic than there was five years ago and Minden is "not in jeopardy of suffering from too much traffic."

The Planning Advisory Committee recommended that a traffic study be carried out after concerns were raised in discussions about a proposal to locate a bowling alley on Bobcaygeon Road.

The committee rejected an application for a severance of the bowling alley site on the basis of these concerns and asked council to approve the traffic study. The developers who submitted the application were Terry Clarke, Reeve Ray Moore's son-in-law and Daryl Moore, the Reeve's son.

The Land Division Committee has since approved the severance.

"The whole traffic study is nothing but the family feud in council to stop Moore's son," said Highland Jewelry owner Jerry Jordan at the BIA meeting. "Why would you stop people from building?"

Reeve Moore has declared a pecuniary interest in the matter and has not taken part in any of the discussions, either at council or the planning committee.

There was a consensus of support for the bowling alley among the BIA members who attended the meeting.

A resolution was passed asking that council "approve the proposal for the bowling alley as presented including the driveway for same."

The discussion about the traffic study evolved into criticisms of the planning committee and council in general.

"Council could overrule the committee," said Jordan. "They're not acting in the best interests of the township and it's costing us business dollars."

The BIA members agreed that the whole stretch of Bobcaygeon Road out to Highway 35 is going to have to be commercially developed.

"Normally council would be a good partner," said Ron Gambell, owner of Gambell's antiques. "But we haven't got a good partner."

The members said they wanted to see further and better co-operation between the business community and council and the various municipal committees.

Gambell went one step further and suggested that council disband the Planning Advisory Committee and start again.

"You appointed them, get rid of them," he told councillor Lewis Stevens, who is council's liaison with the BIA.

"They are the only committee that gets paid and they're doing the worst job," said Brandon.

Some members also expressed disappointment because they feel council "buckled under" to the pressure of a resident's lobby group and did not approve Ray Moore's condominium proposal. There are fears that similar lobbying will deter further development in the area. "The town has to progress," said Jordan. "It's getting ridiculous."

"You people are afraid of the public," Gambell told Stevens. "Make a decision and let people develop. You were put here to make decisions and you're not doing it." He said the planning committee was making council "look bad."

The BIA has requested a meeting with all the members of council so they may further discuss their concerns.

At Thursday's planning advisory meeting, the committee decided to form a committee to design the parameters for the traffic study, which will encompass Bobcaygeon Road from Highway 35 to South Water Street.

Committee member Morgan Loucks suggested that the study should not include Main Street but should focus on the stretch of Bobcaygeon Road from the Rockcliffe Hotel to Highway 35.

Bill Payne said one of the main areas of concern is the corner of the road between the Minden Medical Centre and Rhodes Medical Clinic. A large rock outcropping on the north side of the corner impedes visibility along that portion of road.

Payne said a traffic study was needed to look at traffic patterns during peak hours when cars park along the side of the road.

"I have no objection to all the traffic in the world coming downtown," said Payne. "But I want to see people safe."

Acting chairman Verne Graham said one of the focuses of the study should be the impact of additional exits and entrances, and existing conditions, on the Bobcaygeon Road in the area defined.

Payne described a hypothetical situation where, on a Friday night in the summer, there would be traffic coming from Toronto and people driving in and out of the stores, bowling alley and the entrances to Home Hardware and the IGA, "all creating a bit of a problem." He said he would like to know the extent of the problem by conducting the study.

To Payne's scenario, Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry added traffic from the entrance to the proposed Mount Minden subdivision, "carrying an untold number of cars."

An ad hoc committee was formed to design the objectives of the study consisting of Berry, Payne, Road Superintendent Clayton Cameron and councillor Bob Sisson, who chairs the Roads Committee.

Formation of the committee was passed with Reeve Moore casting the only vote against.

John Eakins responds to Warden's remarks

Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins has responded to remarks made by Haliburton County Warden Keith Tallman during his address at the annual Warden's Banquet

Late-night parties

She said parties go on in the parking lot, sometimes until about 4 a.m. "At 4 a.m. my son and I are just staring out the window because we can't sleep any way."

Weber said things have been stolen from her property on at least three occasions.

Deputy Reeve Dwaine Wruth provided some consolation, saying the adult entertainment will probably stop in the near future. He said Gelert Gardens has to pay to bring the performers in, and without a lot of customers it is probably costing the owners more than they make.

October 27 in Wilberforce.

During review of his year as the Warden, Tallman said the term had contained a number of frustrations, including the fact that the Ontario Ministry of Environment had yet to approve the county's master plan for waste management and a proposed recycling plan for the county.

Saying that he took the Warden's comments, "very seriously", Eakins responded in a letter to Tallman with copies to the press. The MPP said he had asked County Clerk Gary McKnight to send him copies of correspondence previously sent to himself on these two questions. "We found there was none", his letter stated. However, he said his investigation has shown that the provincial support for approved recycling programs is still available. It includes a one-third split of the cost between the proponent (County), the Ministry of the Environment and Ontario Multi Material Recycling Corporation. He also pointed out that the

Setting off on the right foot

Haliburton County Council's show of unity in response to the recommendation to initiate a County-wide Official Plan is an encouraging indication that success may finally be had in this progressive endeavor.

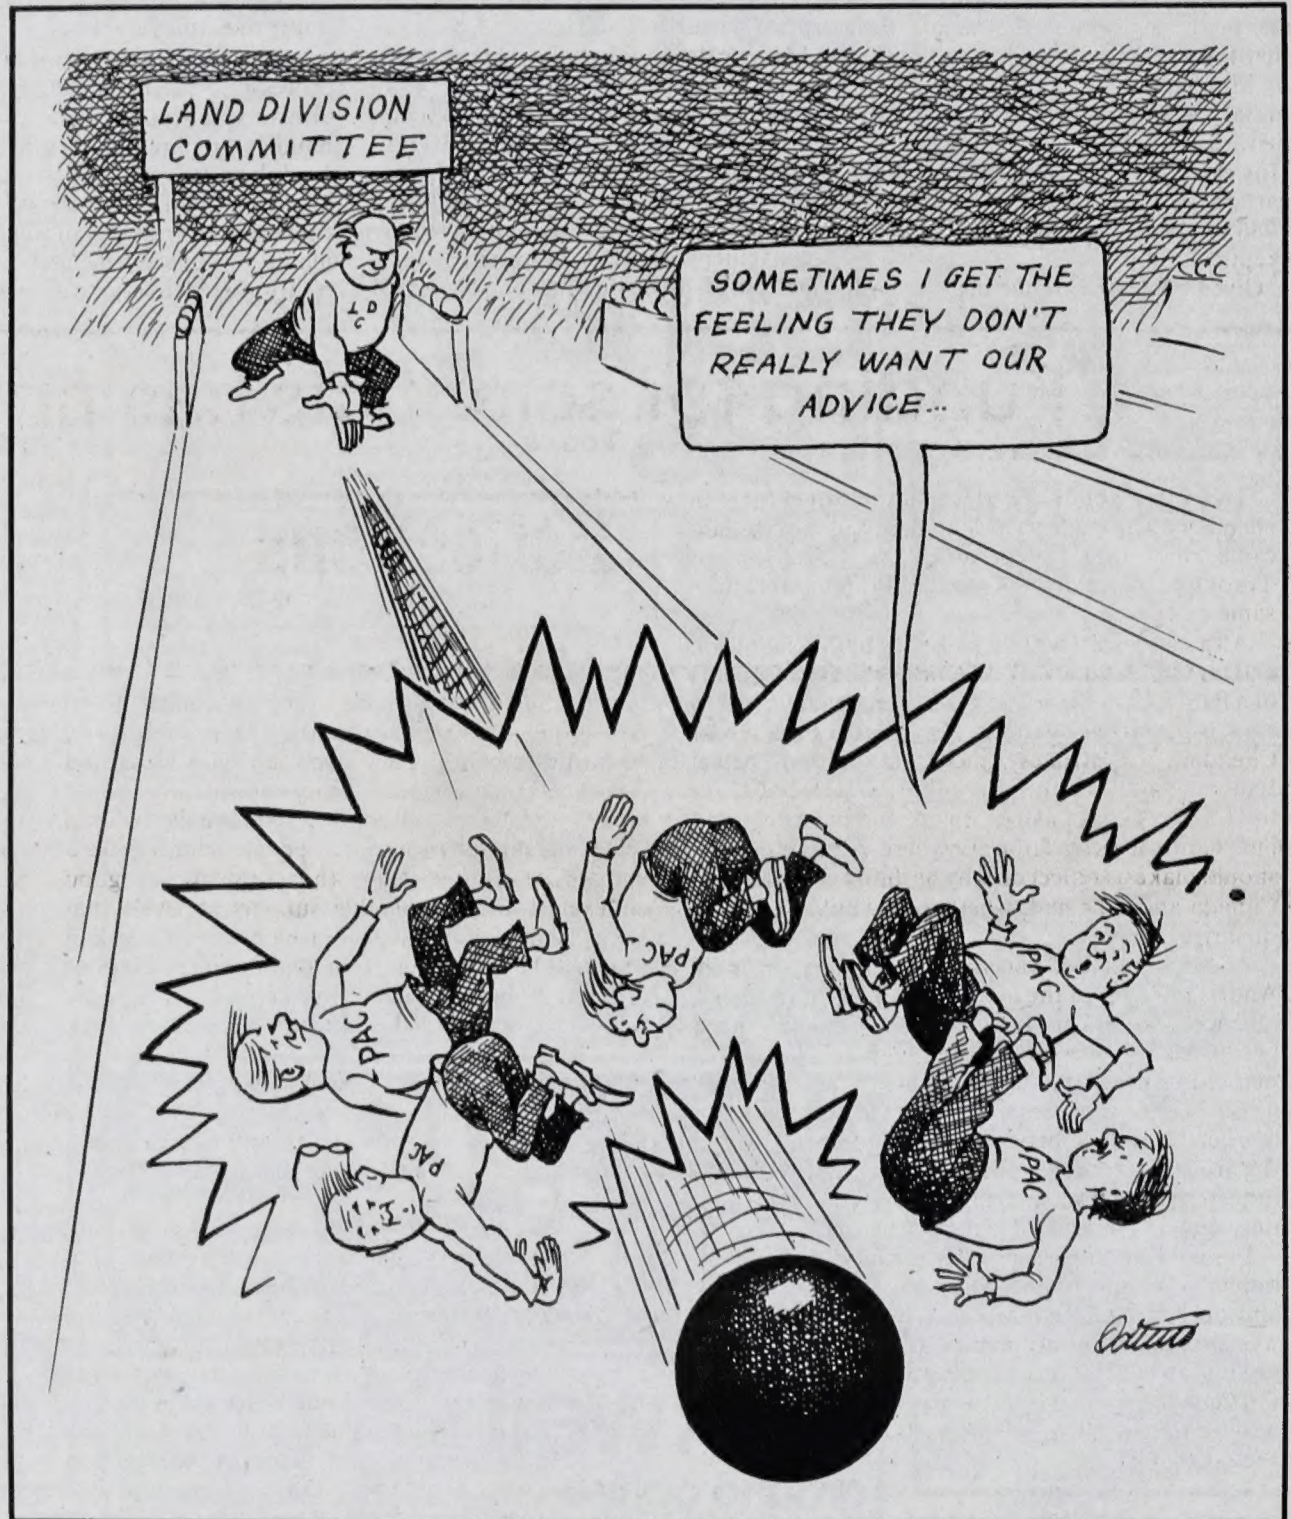

It was obvious last Wednesday that County Councillors had learned a valuable lesson from those who filled their seats a decade earlier. If an Official Plan for this County is to be realized, there will have to be strong co-operation from all the municipalities.

The tone of Wednesday's County Council meeting is a positive sign that there is a willingness to co-operate on this mutually beneficial project. Everyone who spoke on the matter encouraged full support of the plan, putting the interests of the County as a whole ahead of personal interests of individual municipalities.

More than 10 years ago, steps were taken to establish an Official Plan for the Highlands. But according to the County Councillors who witnessed this effort, the work were confounded by municipalities pulling in different directions.

Although it is too soon to predict what might happen this time around, the process has started out on the right foot. There was no evidence of division at Wednesday's meeting.

In order to protect the enviable land and water resources in the Highlands from helter skelter development, an Official Plan must be established. This council has a full two years to work towards that end. If the councillors succeed in this task, they can take pride in the fact that they have contributed a great deal to the future of this County.

Black discovers the white stuff falling in Banff

The first snowfall of winter is an important occasion for Canadians -- it's the last time most of us have a good word to say about the White Stuff. Let Californians burble on about White Christmases and winter wonderland fantasies, any Canuck with a few kilometres on his toboggan knows that winter is mostly a hard slog and unrelieved white is a decorator shade that gets pretty dreary after a month or two. Still and all, that first snow fall is nice and decidedly magical. Which is why it's good if you can arrange to be somewhere special to see it.

It's set for the winter of '89-90—I saw my first snow fall in the most spectacular setting this country affords: deep in the Alberta Rockies. Banff, to be precise.

Am I the last Canadian in the land to discover this national treasure? Possibly. The people I met there couldn't believe I'd managed to pass four and half decades without seeing the place. For anyone else who's neglected their patriotic duty, I offer a thumbnail sketch.

Actually, sketching Banff on a thumbnail would be like playing Beethoven's Ninth on a police whistle. The place is, to reclaim a word from schoolyard hipsters, awesome. It's a dot on a ripple of earth's crust that exploded up and outward millions of years ago.

Did I say 'ripple'? That's a touch understated. The tortured peaks and gouged-out valleys that surround Banff are sculpted on a scale calculated to remind the average human being of his puniness. The sheer crags thrust up, up like massive ocean waves, frozen in mid-curl. Clumps of rugged conifers straggle up the mountain flanks, then trail away, peter out, surrendering to barren granite and finally, snow so high it never melts. Look up to the top and see clouds disembowelling themselves on the jagged peaks. Look down at inlaid orbs like Lake Louise and Moraine Lake—jewels of glacial water so unnaturally green it makes the breath snag in the throat.

Hang around Banff National Park too long and you run the risk of developing a permanently rubber neck.

The town of Banff itself is clean and pleasant with a sufficiency of decent restaurants and enough

Post office wins 'Double Speak' award

Editor:

It would be a relief to be able to accept the assurances of Canada Post that the opening of retail postal outlets in Minden and Haliburton is not the initial step towards the complete privatization of the existing offices. However, for a Corporation which earned the "Double Speak" Award for 1988 to give such assurances leaves me skeptical.

Given that the reporting in both papers is correct, you need only to compare the statements of Canada Post in the Echo of November 8, and the press release in The Times of November 13 to see the double-talk and realize that these outlets are intended to be more than sales outlets. Established with that understanding, mail handling is eventually transferred to those outlets for the pick-up of parcels, registered mail, etc., under the pretext that it is more convenient for the patrons. Over a period of time, the loss of revenue to these outlets, and the transfer of mail volume is the excuse used by the Corporation to reduce the staffing hours of employees in the Post Offices. Add to that, the changes in mail processing - where machines in the large centres will sort the mail directly into bundles prepared for Rural Route or Lock-box delivery, and the forwarding of "raw mail" (which is presently cancelled and sorted locally) to these plants for processing and subsequent return for delivery, causes a further reduction in the work-load. Although it may take a year or two to reach that point, Canada Post can then justify the closing of the Office and the total turn-over to private operators.

Motivated by the obsessive drive of the Conservative Government to reduce all Federal Services on rural Canada, and to rid itself of Crown Corporations, the end result is inevitable. Canada Post falls into line with the government

Funding for scientists has not improved

This year's announcement that the Nobel Prize in chemistry was made to a Canadian, Sidney Altman, came only three years after the University of Toronto's John Polanyi received the honour in the same category.

Altman's award was the cause for both celebration and regret in Canada. We celebrate the achievements of a fellow Canadian, but it is a shame that he had to earn it in another country. He joins a long list of Canadian expatriates (including several Nobel Laureates and Alan Bromley, the new science adviser to U.S. President George Bush) who have achieved international recognition elsewhere. Altman's award should make us reflect on why he didn't come back to Canada and if he had, whether he would have won the prize.

At a September meeting in Calgary, Harvey Andre, minister of the new Department of Industry, Science and Technology, decried Canada's poor performance in selling technology in the global marketplace and announced his intention to improve it. For years, bureaucrats have spoken of the need for a crucial interface between academic scientists and the private sector to translate scientific discovery into industrial products. Andre simply reiterated this goal only now the buzzword is infrastructure.

In mid-June, a meeting of academics, government bureaucrats and industrialists was held in Halifax and opened by Prime Minister Brian Mulroney. It was organized by academics and business people anxious to become more competitive internationally. Participants seemed to believe if you say we're good often enough, then suddenly things will happen. Well, they won't.

The key to the enormous success of California's

by Dr. David Suzuki

famed Silicon Valley is the proximity of a community of creative scientists at the forefront of scientific research. They come up with ideas and inventions that are worth being applied. How do we create and maintain such a community? Good science is done by top-notch people who require a climate of appreciation, the company of good colleagues and dependable support at levels that keep them competitive anywhere else. Canadian scientists have never had that. Our failure to compete effectively in the global marketplace is directly related to the fact that Altman did his creative work outside of Canada.

When Sid Altman was looking for a job in 1970, he was invited to the University of British Columbia for an interview. You could see right away he was a brilliant candidate and I had high hopes he would accept the position.

A decade earlier, Gobind Khorana, who himself won the Nobel Prize, had worked at UBC in an area related to Altman's and had left behind a small group of outstanding scientists. They included Gordon Tener, who had done innovative chemical work with a class of molecule called tRNA, the very type Altman was interested in. Another Khorana protege was Mike Smith, who went on to study with two-time Nobel Prize winner Fred Sanger to develop ingenious ways of analysing DNA, the molecules of life. They could have been close colleagues of Altman's.

But Altman turned the job down to accept a position at Yale. When I ran into him a year later and asked why he hadn't come to UBC, he replied simply that Canada didn't provide a research atmosphere like the one he found at Yale University.

It was a depressingly familiar story: Ambitious, creative Canadian scientists with strong emotional ties to Canada, can't find the large grants, many outstanding colleagues nearby and extensive space and equipment they need to realize their creative potential in Canada.

There are only a handful of exceptions, like John Polanyi. Overwhelmingly, scientists in Canada struggle on grant support (1.5 per cent of GNP) at levels comparable to their peers in Spain and Portugal, rather than Japan, the U.S. or Britain (2.5-2.9 per cent of GNP). And despite the Mulroney government's election promise to increase science funding, it has not improved.

Canadian scientists are being treated like athletes subsisting on a starvation diet. Instead of being given a proper level of nutrition, their already meagre rations are being skimmed to give extra portions to a few arbitrarily chosen individuals. Those privileged few are then told to go out and win Olympic gold medals.

This has been current government policy in science and it's absurd. Everyone has to get enough support so we can then identify the stars.

The world didn't lose Altman, but the fact that Canada did is a reminder that to be truly world class, we have to provide a milieu that will support and keep outstanding people here.

shopping opportunities to sate the lusts of Imelda Marcos. The goodies range from junky 99-cent key chains to furs, jewels and jade sculpture, five grand and up. But it's not the range of merchandise that strikes the first-time visitor to Banff -- it's the signs in the stores. Banff is a fluently bilingual town.

English and Japanese.

The Japanese come to Banff by the thousands every year. They come to get married, to ski, to shop, to hold conventions. They come in pairs and in plane loads. And they spend an awful lot of money while they're here.

"Banff is their Niagara Falls" a long-time resident told me.

It's also their Dallas. One of the most popular television soap operas is shot amidst the stately splendour of the Banff Springs Hotel.

The Japanese presence is very strong in Banff. There's a traditional Japanese restaurant downtown, many of the stores and hotels are owned and operated by Japanese and those that aren't usually have at least one Japanese-speaking staff member.

Which can lead to a certain amount of confusion. A pleasant woman by the name of Yukie at the hotel check-in desk apologized profusely to me in charming, if someone stilted English. She just couldn't find any record of my reservation. Hoping to help, I looked over her shoulder at the computer screen.

And discovered Yukie was searching for a Mister Brac.

Does it cause any tension, this Japanese presence in Banff? None that I could detect. That evening when the first snow of the season came tumbling down in plump flakes, bleaching the lawns and mantling the mountains, the Japanese trooped outside like the rest of us, whooping, making snowballs awkwardly, shrieking at the perverse delight of cold snow down the neck. We were all kids again.

Some of the faces were a little more coppery, that's all.

County ponders future Chamber support

Haliburton County Council will be reconsidering its future financial commitments to the Chamber of Commerce in the wake of the recent election.

At the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, many of the sitting directors were replaced when a predetermined slate of candidates was swept to office. This prompted immediate resignations by all three employees of the Chamber.

Some members of County Council are viewing these developments as a sign of dissatisfaction with the Chamber.

"We put $70,000 into the Chamber of Commerce last year," said Dysart Reeve Murray Feary. "If things were so bad, why weren't we made aware?"

Feary's question was directed at Stanhope Deputy Reeve Ann Barker, who was the county's representative on the Chamber board last year. Barker successfully ran for an elected seat on the board at the annual meeting.

Barker replied that she had met with then Chamber Manager Shirley Rapson earlier in the year and "told her of the rumblings." Barker said there were people in Haliburton who wanted to split away from the Chamber and start their own tourism association.

Feary repeated his question. "Why didn't this come to County?"

"I voiced my concerns at the start of the year," Barker replied. She said she spoke with Lutterworth Reeve Carol Puffer at the start of the year and asked if she was just imagining the problems. Barker said the Chamber's troubles began more than a year ago. "It's not just this year, it's been going on for some time," she said.

The decision by some members to enter their names as a slate was made only after the Chamber decided not to accept some names on the ballot, said Barker. Instead of putting forth a ballot with the names of all the candidates who expressed an interest in running, the board opted to forward only 12 names and accept others from the floor at the annual meeting.

"The board refused to put the nominees on the list," said Barker. "The names came up at a board meeting and they refused all but 12," she said.

There are only 12 elected seats on the Chamber board.

"That's because they weren't members," Feary said.

Barker replied that of the seven nominees who were not on the ballot, only one did not have his dues paid up to date.

The practice of collecting proxy votes for this election should also be questioned, Lutterworth Deputy Reeve Jim McMahon interjected. Prior to the election, all the businesses in Minden were contacted and asked for their proxies, he said.

If the board had accepted all the nominees in the first place, "I don't think you'd have seen proxies," said Barker.

Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis, who was at the annual meeting and had been asked to be a scrutineer in the counting, said he was upset at the way things developed at this meeting. "I have never seen such a gross breach of procedure in all my life," he told his fellow county councillors.

Dysart Deputy Reeve Bill Davis expressed some concern about representation when a slate of candidates is elected.

"When I see slates of candidates, I get concerned." He said this often means that special interests are being represented. "It says some particular group has been slighted," said Davis. He said he wants assurance that the whole county is being represented by this new board.

In view of all the concern by members of County Council, Cardiff Reeve Maurice Bradley suggested that a board of management meeting should be called in the near future to address these matters.

Earlier in the meeting, McMahon expressed other concerns about the Chamber, some of which are unrelated to the election. He objected to Chamber taking on the role of licence issuers for the Ministry of Transportation.

McMahon, who had applied for the right to issue the licences from his Minden business, said the Chamber should not be competing with private business. He said the Chamber is a non-profit group that is supported by the County and shouldn't be taking this service away from the private sector.

He also noted that the resignations of Chamber staff forced the temporary stoppage of this service. "If any business pulled a stunt like this, we'd lose the business," he said.

Barker said resignations were beyond the control of the directors. The three staff members walked out with short notice, leaving no trained personnel to fill in. Barker said the Chamber took immediate action in getting one of its directors trained so the licensing service could be back in place as soon as possible.

Craig Saunders completed his training last week and the licensing service is in operation as of today (Monday).

Apologies follow fisticuffs in Snowdon

Apologies are being offered after a clash at last Monday's Snowdon Township Council meeting escalated into brief fistfight outside the municipal office in Gelert.

Councillor Al Jopling and resident Walter Griffin squared off outside after a heated discussion regarding the proposal to allow an automobile salvage yard in Gelert.

The altercation lasted only a few minutes, after which Jopling informed council he would be resigning from his elected post.

However, Jopling has since reconsidered. In a conversation last week, Jopling said he will be discussing the matter with his fellow councillors before making a final decision regarding his resignation. He has been trying to personally contact everyone who was in the room to offer an apology for his behaviour.

Griffin, who co-chairs a concerned citizens group, is also making public apologies for the fight. He expresses his regret in a letter to the editor, which appears in today's newspaper.

The encounter was prompted by the decision to grant Bill Linnington another month to meet the conditions that were imposed by council regarding his salvage yard development.

At its previous meeting, council passed two readings of a by-law that would allow Linnington to proceed with his plans. Council withheld the final reading of the by-law, demanding Linnington to meet the conditions.

Linnington was to have removed all the vehicles and parts from his property, signed a seven-page site plan agreement, paid his back taxes, and left a deposit with the municipality.

Noting that none of these conditions had been met, Reeve George Simmons said council has two options: grant him another month or go ahead with the final reading of the by-law.

Linnington, who was present at the meeting, told council he understood the concerned citizens group would be asking council to postpone the final reading of the by-law to allow them more time to prepare their opposition to the development. "The people wanted more time and I was quite willing to give it to them, so

Chamber begins task of rebuilding

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce will be rebuilding from the ground up over the next year, after the recent election unseated many directors and prompted the group resignation of its staff.

Public Relations Chairman Shawn Hagerman is confident about the outlook and feels the new board has the depth and experience to steer the chamber in a new direction.

Among the new board members are two past presidents and a former manager. The directors, including two ex-officio members, also come from various parts of the county, providing widespread representation.

The election saw the defeat of many past directors, but Hagerman says this does not pose a problem in terms of continuity. The election was not a clean sweep. In fact three of the 12 elected directors served on the Chamber board last year. In addition, the Chamber has appointed two ex-officio voting directors, one of whom was a director last year and the other who is a past president.

"We thought it was important to get as many people as possible with experience to serve on the board," he said.

Hagerman said the chamber will welcome all input from members, including those who lost in the recent election. He said he hopes those who were unsuccessful will still be willing to contribute to the Chamber. Their willingness to contribute should not "hinge solely on whether they were elected," said Hagerman.

The Chamber's success in the coming year depends

New board seeks input from Chamber members to a large extent on the willingness of the membership at large to get involved in decisions and activities. To encourage this participation, Hagerman said the directors plan to make personal visits with the members.

In response to some concerns about the use of proxy votes in the last election, Hagerman sees no reason to adopt new restrictions. In fact, he says he would like to see this expanded. He said he would like to have a proxy ballot sent out with every invitation to the annual meeting.

The use of proxies was condemned by some members at the annual meeting. However, their use is in accordance with the Chamber's constitution and they were allowed.

There is a need for proxy voting to ensure that everyone has an equal opportunity to elect their new directors, said Hagerman. Considering that there are more than 300 members and only about 70 voting members at any annual meeting, proxies are needed to broaden the electoral base, said Hagerman.

By allowing proxies, the Chamber is allowing every member the same chance to decide who they want to sit on the board, he said.

It is too early to say what specific aims the Chamber will be working towards future, said Hagerman, but he would like to see it become more involved in issues that affect the community. An example of this is the Chamber's decision to support the fight for the 18-bed expansion of the Haliburton Hospital.

Other issues that Hagerman said might be of interest to the business community are the Federal Goods and Services tax and the province's move to have all employers pay OHIP fees for their employees. He said these and other topics could be addressed by guest speakers at regular meetings.

In addition to providing valuable information to chamber members, this idea would encourage people to come out to the meetings and participate more actively in the Chamber.

"It's important to broaden the base of participation in community affairs," said Hagerman. "There are things out there in business that people want to hear about."

In regards to the Highland Games, which were initiated by the Chamber last year, Hagerman says the board is still fully in support of the event. And as far as he is concerned there is no risk of the board moving the event from its location at Glebe Park in Haliburton Village.

However, he said he believes events such as this should ultimately be turned over to volunteer groups to run. He said it is good for the Chamber to be involved in the initial stages of events like the Highland Games, but volunteer directors can't be expected to continue to run these events. He noted, though, that he is just one of the directors on the board and others may have a different view.

The Chamber's support is still fully behind the efforts of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, he added. One of the first moves made by the new board was to appoint a liaison with the association and to send them a letter. Hagerman says snowmobiling is a vital part of the tourism in this area and the Chamber hopes to continue to work closely with the association.

As another means of meeting the members, Hagerman says the board is hoping to set up an open house some time next month. Members will be encouraged to come to the Chamber office and meet their directors.

In the meantime, though, the Chamber's task is to get the management systems in place and hire new staff. "Our first job is to keep the office open and get the staff trained," he said.

Licence office re-opens

The Ministry of Transportation licensing office at the Chamber of Commerce office in Minden will be back up and running today.

Craig Saunders, a Chamber director, completed his training at the ministry office in North Bay last week and will be re-opening the licensing outlet today.

The service was discontinued after all three of the Chamber's staff members offered their resignations on short notice. Saunders immediately enrolled in the ministry course so the service could be offered again as soon as possible.

The Chamber office has remained open in spite of the resignations. It is being staffed by volunteers and Chamber directors until replacements can be hired.

When the hiring is completed, the new employees will be trained to handle licensing.

Tempers flare over wrecking yard issue

"I left it at that," he said. "I'm not a person who doesn't want to give them time."

Simmons, who had attended most of the meetings called by the concerned citizens group, said the point is being missed. He said council required that all conditions be met by the Nov. 13 meeting, otherwise the by-law would be rejected.

Simmons had previously told the concerned citizens group that their request for a postponement of the final reading would not mean that Linnington would be given more time to meet his obligations. However, it was clear that this message had not reached Simmons' fellow council members.

"If we're giving the residents a month's grace we should be giving Linnington one month's grace," said Deputy Reeve Dwaine Wruth. Councillor Ron Burk said the matter should be deferred for a month to give the township's planner an opportunity to review the brief prepared by the concerned citizens group.

Councillor Jack Hills disagreed. "This damned thing has been dragging on," he said. "It was supposed to be settled tonight." He urged council to reject Linnington's proposal.

With the obvious split, clerk Ernie Hills forwarded two resolutions. The first, which was to dismiss Linnington's application, was defeated in a 3-2 vote with Burk, Jopling and Wruth in opposition.

The second resolution, to postpone the matter for a month and send the group's brief to the planner, was then passed. The final reading of the by-law is now slated for December 11.

With that, Griffin voiced his dissatisfaction. "I hope you know what you did," said Griffin. "He didn't keep his end of the bargain," he said, referring to Linnington.

Griffin said the citizens group was at the meeting to ask for the postponement only if it was deemed necessary. Since Linnington failed to meet the conditions, Griffin said the postponement should have been unnecessary.

"I think it's a shame you guys don't have the balls to stand up and do what should be done," he said.

Jopling took offence to this comment and said he would like to see Griffin outside after the meeting. Griffin challenged him to go right then, and the two left the council chambers.

PRIDE projects too expensive for budget

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden's PRIDE program is having difficulty getting under way because of a lack of affordable tenders.

The program is a joint venture between Minden's Business Improvement Area (BIA) and the Ontario Ministry of Municipal Affairs designed to revitalize the downtown core.

The plans for the proposal have been drawn up and requests for tenders advertised, but as yet no tenders have been received for amounts within the project's budget.

Minden councillor Lewis Stevens reported on the progress of the PRIDE program at last Wednesday's meeting of the BIA.

He said tenders were received for just the landscaping portion of the proposal that were more expensive than the projected cost of the total project.

The work, which is to be carried out on Main Street from the bridge to Newcastle Street is supposed to include traffic flow, lighting, laneway signage and the installation of benches, gardens, waste containers and further docking facilities.

Stevens said that, as a result of the unacceptable tender response, the PRIDE committee has suggested that invitational tenders be sent out to local contractors instead of relying on public tenders.

Although the committee had hoped to tender the total project out to one contractor, Stevens said it may be necessary to tender all the work out to several different companies.

Brian Basterfield, the Peterborough consultant who is acting as the project manager for the PRIDE program, is forwarding a request to the Ministry that the balance of the funds allocated for 1989 be forwarded to 1990.

Stevens said that because the tenders have been coming in so high, it will be necessary to redo the expenditures to come in line with the available funds, or come up with additional funds in order to continue with the original plans.

There is some concern among members of the BIA that the improvements are limited to Main Street between the bridge and the Rockcliffe Hotel.

Stevens agreed that the scope of the PRIDE improvements is a "bone of contention" with some businesses located outside the specified area. He said the intention is to continue improvements along the Bobcaygeon Road towards the highway, but because of costs it has to be done in stages.

"Main Street starts at Highway 35, and that's the way we should be looking at it," Stevens said.

Invitational tenders have been sent out to local contractors for the last two weeks, Stevens said, and the township has been "practically begging" for people to respond.

He said he hopes that local contractors can piece the work out among themselves and put in a tender which the committee can afford.

"By no means is it dead," said Stevens. "We're not going to lose the money. We'd like to do it all at once but if not, we'll do it piecemeal."

Members of the BIA asked why the new street lighting, which was supposed to be installed this fall, hasn't been put up yet.

Stevens explained that the money is still there but no one picked up the contract to do the work. He said the lights were installed across the bridge, from Parkside Drive to Gord Monk's funeral home when the improvements to the Bobcaygeon Road were being carried out.

Warden still not pleased

MOE would fund 50% of any gross deficit the program incurred in the first year. Deficit support would be available in succeeding years in reduced amounts.

Eakins' letter stated since the county had decided to undertake master plan for waste disposal, county-wide, it was suggested the recycling program be included in this study. Since preparation of this master plan took some time to complete, the recycling program was delayed until that study could be done.

In regard to the delay of the waste management master plan, he said the terms of reference for the study are currently being reviewed by the county. "As soon as the county has finalized the terms of reference, the MOE is prepared to assist in the tendering and selection of a consultant." Eakins said the ministry is committed to funding half of the study.

In closing, the MPP urged the Warden to contact him if he had any further concerns regarding the two programs.

Contacted Friday, Tallman said he was still not happy with the speed with which the ministry had dealt with the county's application. He said the terms of reference were returned to the county office by MOE the week following the warden's banquet (early November) and that the ministry had had them for three months. He said the county's proposal for a recycling program had received initial approval, which was then withdrawn when it was realized that certain criteria, such as the fact this county does not have house pick-up of garbage, did not apply. Tallman suggested that tying the program with the waste management master plan would cause further unnecessary delay to the start of the recycling effort.

Despite the fact that the warden had been contacted by both county newspapers to comment on the letter, he had not received his copy.

County gives nod to Official Plan

An Official Plan to cover all of Haliburton County may be in store after County Council gave enthusiastic support to a proposal to initiate the groundwork.

Lutterworth Reeve Carol Puffer strongly recommended that County Council seek provincial funding to proceed with the study to produce a County-wide Official Plan. She said this was a key issue raised in the report from Haliburton County Economic Development Study. Almost everyone interviewed in this study agreed that an Official Plan is important for controlled growth in the Highlands, she said.

The idea of a County-wide Official Plan is not new. More than 10 years ago a strategy plan was developed, but it never developed into an Official Plan because municipalities couldn't agree on many aspects of it.

County Councillors are hoping things will be different this time around and some asked their counterparts to set their personal interests aside and look to the good of the county as a whole.

"There was definite division several years ago that didn't want in," said Dysart Reeve Murray Fearry. "It was a political cop out," said Fearry. The municipalities were acting as individuals, putting themselves ahead of the County, he said.

Fearry noted that there are three municipalities in the Highlands that have gone ahead on their own and produced Official Plans. He said there is a great deal of information that can be gathered from the studies that produced these plans. Fearry said Minden, Haliburton and Cardiff have spent a lot of money to develop their Official Plans and there should be some consideration for this.

Sherbourne Township Reeve Don Shortreed spoke in favour of the plan. "We have to all pull together," he said. "co-operation will make us or break us."

"It's time to put personal interests aside," added Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe, "or it will never work, I can assure you that."

The report of the Economic Development Study, identified "ad hoc development controls" in this county as a problem. "The regulatory controls that govern development in Haliburton County vary from one municipality to the next," it reads. "The absence of a clear planning framework for the County as a whole and for the majority of constituent municipalities cannot help but foster ad hoc growth and cater to confusion."

Puffer quoted extensively from the report in making her presentation to council. "A plan will give the County a strong image of itself," she read. "It gives residents and business investors confidence that their property assets are being well managed. It sets out a consistent set of rules and regulations that tells people where they stand and what they can and cannot do in terms of development. It ensures that the County can accommodate growth and sustain its identity.

"Haliburton has been discovered by the outside world, it has space, clean water, attractive landscapes, a unique heritage and culture and a desirable combination of lifestyle characteristics. Populations to the south have a huge appetite for these commodities and history bears witness that in their scramble to attain them they can often destroy the very thing they pursue. Haliburton can look to areas in the Muskokas, parts of Lake Simcoe and stretches of Georgian Bay for examples of the despoiling qualities of unchecked growth. Most of these locations now have plans in place but the old adage of closing the barn door too late strongly applies. At present these areas are not so much planning on how best to use their resources as they are in protecting what is left and doing damage control."

The report, prepared by Keir and Muller Associates, strongly recommends an Official Plan for the County.

"If Haliburton wants to manage its own affairs and ensure that its assets are used to their best advantage now and in the future it has to take on the responsibility of land use management."

Student's work promotes Kids Help Hotline

A poster designed by a Haliburton County youngster is being used to promote the recently instituted Kids Help Hotline.

The "hotline" was initiated earlier this year to provide youngsters across the country with a number to call when they find themselves confused or in a crisis situation. The purpose of the hotline, which can be reached through a toll-free number from anywhere in Canada, is to give children a confidential, knowledgeable source they could turn to when they feel traditional local services or individuals could not be of assistance.

Karoul Talaba of Kinark Child and Family Service co-ordinated the creation of a number of posters using a selection of youngsters from the area. Through her work, Karoul is involved with the Women's Safety Network, an organization designed to assist women and their families who are being abused by their husbands or boyfriends.

Karoul described a typical situation in a home where a wife is abused, and asked the youngsters to illustrate how a child in that home might feel.

She explained that the purpose of the poster was to attract the interest of youngsters and get the message across that help is available through the hotline. She said that children indicated that a cartoon or artwork of another child would attract their attention, rather than a poster prepared by an adult. With the headline 'Caught in the Middle', the poster does provide a child's perspective in a wife abuse situation.

While the youngster who created the poster is not from a home where wife

CALL Kids Help Hotline day or night

abuse occurs, she said it was decided not to reveal the name of the young artist.

Other groups involved in the local co-ordinating committee include the Ontario Provincial Police, probation and parole officials, the Family Violence Men's Group, Kinark, Children's Aid Service, the Women's Teachers Federation of Ontario and the Haliburton Ministerial Association.

The poster's release is quite timely, as November has been named "Break The Silence" month during which time the co-ordinating committee hopes to increase public awareness of the problem of wife abuse.

Village Green to be sold by Township

Although the township has negotiated to sell the Village Green at various times, many people feel it should have been advertised and sold by tender.

Gary Thurston has been identified as the person who has put an offer in on the property, and the fact that Thurston does accounting work for the township of Anson, Hindon and Minden has led to accusations of conflict of interest.

In an interview on Thursday, Minden Reeve Ray Moore confirmed that an offer for the property is being considered.

Moore says he doesn't see any conflict in the sale because the buyer was not privy to any inside information and offered to buy the property at its appraised value.

Thurston could not be reached for comment on Friday.

The Reeve also disagrees that the sale will result in the loss of all 20 parking spots. He said that when a commercial building is erected on the property, the establishment will have to provide customer parking.

The township intends to compensate for the loss of the downtown parkette by further developing the park space on the banks of the river, said Moore. He said there are plans to relocate the gazebo, currently located in the Village Green, to the south side of the river in front of the post office.

The possibility of selling Minden's Village Green has been kicked around on several occasions over the past seven years, but now that it appears a sale will be made, downtown shopkeepers are concerned.

The loss of the park space is worth the financial gain that will be realized by the sale of the property, said Moore, because more people use the arena than the Village Green.

He wouldn't discuss the details of the sale, but said a full disclosure will be made once the deal is finalized.

The loss of the Village Green will affect annual events like the Sled Dog Derby and the Heineken Yard, but Stuart Brandon, one of the organizers of the Sled Dog Derby says the loss has been anticipated and a contingency plan for running the event without the parkette has been in place for the last four years. He said the race will still have a downtown start.

This is not the first time the township has negotiated the sale of the parkette. It was obtained by the township in a swap for lakeshore property seven years ago and has been considered for sale at various times since then.

The Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, which is located next to the Village Green, tried to strike a deal with the township for the lot, which involved, at one point, a straight trade for the bank's present building and property.

The bank and the township couldn't come to terms over price, and the deal fell through. CIBC has a legal right-of-way over the Village Green for access to Peck Street which will not be affected by the sale of the property.

Home Hardware also showed an interest in the property while the store was still located downtown, but again the deal was never finalized.

If the mood of Wednesday's BIA meeting is any indication, the sale of the Village Green, and adjoining parking lot, is going to be met with public resistance.

"How can you stop a condo because you're worried about traffic and kill 20 parking spots?" Highland Jewelry owner Jerry Jordan asked Stevens. "The public likes the Village Green."

"If they got rid of 20 parking spots, they'll be hearing from me," another member promised.

Many business owners also complained about the secrecy involved in the deal.

The Ministry of Municipal Affairs says there is no legislation governing the sale of municipally-owned property, although they encourage townships to use an open process. Legislation is being developed by the Ministry to regulate such practices.

The Rotary Bingo crew is really appreciated

Editor:

This is a letter to express our utmost appreciation to all of those who participate in and donate their precious time to our Tuesday Night Bingo games.

We must first express our thanks to the girls who supply us with a never-ending flow of delicately brewed complimentary coffee. Thanks to Dorothy Rowe and Joyce Wiltshire for this service.

Now, we embark on a long list of gratitude to all the men who keep the games running so smoothly.

In no particular order we would like to make brief mention of all of their names.

Cec Rowe and Bob Wiltshire, our Nevada Guys (take that sign down boys!). Ed Pergolas, the moneyman who is leaving for the south soon. Tom Thompson, the patient caller who is also deserting us for warmer weather. Bill Roszell who's calling skills are quickly improving. Keep up the good work Bill! Paul Heffer, our ever loving pharmacist - no he doesn't supply Tuesday nights with barbiturates to keep the ladies calm! Sir Donald Hall, our faithfull card seller (over) doing a great job boys! Sgt. Steve Adam, our unofficial arbitrator who does a great job at both the station house and the Bingo Hall. We can't forget Russ Paul, we know we've put him close to the brink of insanity sending him up for tickets. Keeps you fit though! Bob Wells, you've got to slow down on the calling, it's hard managing cigarettes, coffee, and bingo markers all at the same time! Jack Brezina, our favourite newsman, your calling is appreciated, come out more often. Looking forward to our CIBC bank manager, Jerry Rome's return soon.

And finally, we must thank Ed Burke and his wife who do a super job tolerating and cleaning up the mess we leave behind.

If we've forgotten anyone, please don't take it personally, there was a long list to commend.

So, all you Bingo fanatics that have been curbing your Bingo urges as of late, come out of the closet and play. It's a great way to meet new people in a friendly and somewhat hyper surrounding.

The Rotary Club and all those mentioned sacrifice their Tuesday nights, so why not take advantage of them and have a well deserved night of fun!

Hope to see a bigger turnout soon.

Thanks again to all involved.

'Improvements' damage hunt camp access road

Editor:

This is in regards to your article in the October 30 issue of The Times, concerning the HCSA coming to council for funding.

Several groups lease property and pay taxes on the area they are working on. Thanks to their "good work" our three-hour trip to our camp is now over seven hours. They have made our road almost inaccessible. Do we have any rights?

We spend thousands of dollars on equipment to transport ourselves and our supplies into our camps and now we are breaking winches and chains and doing who knows what to our vehicles because they are "improving" the road.

It might have improved things if they had started working on it at a better time of year, when things were dry, but

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden council has decided to resume maintenance of the lower portion of the Bob Lake Road.

The decision was made at a special council meeting last Tuesday and comes as a result of an agreement worked out between the property owners' association and the township.

Residents have agreed to deed the township additional land in order to widen the road and have also agreed to ensure that no vehicles are parked along the side. The association is also having a survey done to determine where the boundaries of the road lie.

Council suspended maintenance of the lower 600 meters of the road in August on the advice of Road Superintendent Clayton Cameron. Cameron said the road was too narrow to safely accommodate the road department's equipment, and cars parked on the edge of the road made the situation more dangerous.

Ever since the decision to discontinue service was made, residents along that portion of road have met with council to try to work out a solution.

Claude Brown, who lives along the narrowest stretch of the road, has agreed to give the township four or five feet of land along the front of the property in order to widen the travelled portion.

A cottager's association was formed to deal with the issue of road maintenance.

President Ed Hisson told council the survey of the road should be completed by the end of November and may result in the road being wider.

One of the problem areas experienced by road crews trying to plow the road, occurred in front of Roy Palmer's property. Crews encountered cars parked on the edge of the road making passage impossible.

Palmer's car was ticketed but in the ensuing court case he was able to convince the judge that he was parked on his own property, which abutts the roadway.

Hisson told council that the association will cooperate by policing themselves and making sure no one parks on the road during plowing.

A condition of council's decision is, that if the plow ever gets into a situation where it can't get in or out of the road, service will once again be discontinued.

"Sounds fair to me," said Hisson.

BIA promotes Christmas decoration competition

The Minden Business Improvement Area (BIA) will once again be encouraging area residents and merchants to brighten the community for the Christmas season.

The downtown business organization is sponsoring a Christmas decoration contest. Approval for the contest was given at the BIA meeting last Wednesday.

Gord Monk will once again be co-ordinating this year's contest. Cash prizes will be awarded in a number of categories including best residential outdoor display, best decorated residential front door, best exterior commercial display, and best interior commercial display featuring the Christmas theme.

Information about the competition and an entry form will appear in next week's edition of The Times.

now when things are wet, all they are doing is making a muddy mess.

This area they are working on is, correction, was, our only access to our leased property. Other camps are

Land Division defers townhouse decision

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Final severance approval for the 16-unit townhouse complex on Parkside Crescent has been delayed by the County's Land Division Committee until more information on the project can be obtained by the developer.

At last Monday's meeting, several questions about the process by which the project was given municipal approval were raised.

Referring to a copy of the planning report submitted by Minden's planner Bob Lehman, committee member Bob Bishop said there didn't appear to be any problem with the concept of the development but that some of Lehman's recommendations weren't acted upon.

In his report, Lehman recommends that the Ministries of Municipal Affairs, Natural Resources, the Environment and Housing all be asked to comment on the development before the Land Division decision.

However none of the Ministries were asked to comment.

"It's appropriate development in spite of the fact that it was done without jumping all the hoops Lehman would like them to jump," said Bishop.

The delay in passing the severances is going to put a great deal of pressure on the developer, Mark Rutale, who has pre-sold all 13 existing units.

One owner, reached in Toronto, has been trying to rent a townhouse although she does not hold a deed to the unit or the land. Some of the people who bought units from Rutale are even trying to resell them.

Seal campaign underway

For more than 80 years a little seal approximately one inch wide and three quarters of an inch long was waged a gigantic fight against lung disease.

The Christmas Seal Campaign was launched November 1 with a provincial goal of $4.5 million. The goal for Victoria-Haliburton is $36,000.

Christmas Seals became the visible symbol of the fight against tuberculosis when funds were sought to send TB sufferers to sanatoria. Over the years Christmas Seals paid for millions of Canadians to have chest x-rays or tuberculin tests.

While many fund raising gimmicks come and go, these bright and colourful seals symbolizing caring and hope, have remained a traditional part of the Christmas Seal Campaign. If seals were not included in the Christmas appeal, many contributors would miss them.

The Lung Association holds a meaningful place in the community because of the many programs conducted throughout the year. Unlike many of the other health care organizations, most of the money raised

The Lung Association continues to fight vigorously for a smoke-free society. In Lindsay, Ross Memorial Hospital is being urged to adopt a more restrictive smoking policy. Town Council has been approached to pass a no-smoking by-law. COUNTDOWN, a stop-smoking group has helped many smokers to quit. Also offered is a comprehensive kit called Freedom From Smoking At Work.

While the fight to gain a smoke-free society is going on in one corner, the Lung Association also helps people with chronic lung problems. Better breathing courses provide people suffering from Chronic Obstructive Lung Disease with the opportunity to find out how to live a more satisfying life.

Cheer boxes given to those in need

Once again a group of volunteers under the supervision of the Canadian Sunday School Mission in Haliburton County will be distributing Christmas Cheer Boxes to those in need.

Last year 40 homes received heaping boxes of canned goods, flour, cereal, cookies, etc., all donated by concerned individuals and organizations and packed by volunteers who also delivered the boxes to those homes who were eligible and requested assistance.

If you or your organization wishes to contribute food, hand-knit items, toys, money or turkeys, they will be gratefully accepted.

All non-perishable gifts will be left at the Agnes Jameson Gallery on Bobcaygeon Road. If a family needs assistance or someone wishes to recommend a needy family, please call on of these numbers:

454-8347, 488-2847, or 286-3367.

The last day to call for those in need is December 18. The last day to donate provisions is December 20.

Drug seminar Wednesday

The week of Nov. 19 to 25 has been designated as Drug Awareness Week in Canada.

What do you really know about the problem of drug use and abuse? What is a drug? Where do the drugs used in the county come from and how do they get here? What is happening in the court system to drug possessors and traffickers?

How can you as an individual do anything about this growing problem?

For the answer to these and many other questions, come to the Drug Awareness Seminar being held at the Haliburton High School on Wednesday November 22 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Speakers from the Federal Prosecutor's Office, Coroners office, Narcotics Anonymous, FOURCAST and drug enforcement will address the topic of drugs and answer questions from the audience.

County waits for MTC to upgrade road

The last remaining strip of the old Highway 519 may become county property sometime next year if the Ministry of Transportation is willing to bring it up to suitable standards.

Haliburton County assumed most of the road between Haliburton Village and Highway 121 in Snowdon Township several years ago. However, the short strip between the Haliburton Hospital and Highway 121 in Haliburton Village was not accepted at that time because of its rough condition.

That may be about to change, though. County Engineer Bill Obee reported to County Council last Wednesday that the ministry is willing to upgrade the road if the county will take over the maintenance.

Obee said the agreement calls for the ministry to make the necessary improvements to the road. And after 10 months if the new surface holds up it is to be assumed by the county as an extension of County Road 1.

Whether the county will be willing to assume this section of the road also hinges on what method the ministry is proposing to use to improve the conditions.

The idea of assuming this section of the old highway was not met with great enthusiasm from some on county council. "I think you made the best deal you could," said Dysart Reeve Murray Fearry, "but the last time they rebuilt it, it fell apart in the second year."

Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe asked what style of treatment the ministry was proposing to improve the road. He told Obee that, depending on what the ministry has in mind, it could turn into maintenance problems for the county. "Maintenance problems could be phenomenal . . . never ending," he said.

"Is this a method of transferring an ongoing problem to the county," Howe wondered aloud. He said it is important to know exactly what design the ministry is proposing.

The problem is that this section of the road passes over a deep muskeg, said Howe. If it is not properly designed, he said it will not last and the county will be stuck paying for the maintenance.

Stanhope council considers ban of houseboats

Stanhope Township may be looking for ways of discouraging the use of houseboats on lakes in the municipality.

The Twelve Mile and Little Boshkung Lakes association has asked council to do something to keep houseboats off the lakes. They sent a letter to the township, which said there was a houseboat used all last summer on one of the lakes. The letter referred to an article in Cottage Life magazine, which outlined the problems caused by houseboats in the Trent-Severn system and urged council to take steps to ensure this does not happen in Stanhope.

Councillor Fred Gardiner said the township cannot control the lakes, but it can control the access to the lakes. He said it might be a good idea to have a by-law in place to regulate the launching of houseboats.

"People could buy a houseboat, drop it in and live on it all summer," he said. "It's cheaper than buying a cottage," he said.

Councillor Murray Daniels questioned the statement that a houseboat was used on one of the lakes this summer. He said there are several pontoon boats used for recreational purposes, but these are not designed to live on.

Deep Bay road improvements stop

The County Roads department faced sharp criticism last Wednesday when Lutterworth Deputy Reeve Jim McMahon learned that work on the Deep Bay Road will be suspended until more funds are available.

County Engineer Bill Obee told Haliburton County Council that the road repairs that have been underway for a few months have been halted because they ran out of money for the project.

McMahon, who regularly travels this road responded that putting a halt to the work leaves the road in a dangerous condition for the winter.

"For a County Road, I think it's an awful disgrace, and dangerous," McMahon said at last week's county council meeting. He said school buses have to travel along that road every weekday. He said guard rails should at least be installed to keep vehicles from sliding into the ditches, which he said appear to be deeper than before the work began.

Obee said the culverts are no deeper than last year. They may look that way, he said, because they have been brushed out.

Bob McCausland, who chairs the county's Roads Committee, told McMahon that a meeting is being arranged between committee members and concerned residents of the area.

McMahon asked to be kept informed of any progress. He said he has been asked by many local residents why the work was stopped and would like to be able to give some answers.

People and Places

with John Eakins, M.P.P.

Some astonishing statistics recently crossed my desk and I wanted to share them with you. I don't use the word 'astonishing' lightly, because these statistics really will open your eyes to a serious problem around us.

This serious problem involves one out of every eight women in Canada. In 40 per cent of cases, it begins during the woman's first pregnancy. It not only seriously affects the woman, but it often has tragic results on the kids. Hazard to guess?

It's wife assault.

Plain and simple, wife assault is a crime. It is not a private matter. Harming or threatening to harm a wife or girlfriend is just as illegal as harming or threatening a stranger.

It's happening in rich families and in poor families, families from every cultural and educational background. It's happening in Victoria-Haliburton, just like it is all across Canada.

In order to help stop this crime, the provincial government, for the fourth year in a row, has declared November Wife Assault Prevention Month. November 25 has also been recognized as International Day of Violence against Women. This helps raise the awareness to the problem and clearly tells women that there are options available. Criminal charges can be laid by the police, legal advice is available through Legal Aid, and there is help in the community.

Of course, an awareness campaign is not going to solve the problem. Only a long-term commitment to a comprehensive program of service provision, enforcement and education will win the battle. Society as a whole must realize it is responsible.

Wife assault is not a family matter and it doesn't just concern women. Wife assault is everyone's concern.

For general information on the issue, contact: Wife Assault, Ontario Women's Directorate, Queen's Park,

Stamps still undefeated

After meeting every team in the league, Stamp Fuels is still undefeated. Last Monday they knocked off their closest competitor with an 8-3 decision over Home Hardware.

With Tom Haley and Lawrence Loughheed each racking up three goals for Stamp Fuels, Home had little hope of upsetting the league leaders.

In spite of the loss, Home is still in second place with six points from their three wins this season.

In addition to the hat-tricks from Haley and Loughheed, Stamp Fuels goals came from Greg Carpenter and Craig Newell. Scott Hamilton scored twice for Home while Barry Shaw added the third.

In the second game of the night, the Rockcliffe shelled The Times' goalie Terry Crowe with nine goals. The Times responded with only six of their own to accept the loss.

Dave Hartwick was responsible for four of the Rockcliffe's goals. Others came from Colin Newell (2), John Balantyne, Ken Barry and Dean Hewitt.

Ivan Ingram, the league's leading scorer, added another two for The Times. Scott Gartshore scored two and Dennis McKee added one.

The Rockcliffe is tied for third place in the standings with Hartwick. The Times is a half a game back in fourth with four points on two wins.

In the final game of the night, the Westside club showed its best effort this season but came out on the short end of a 14-10 game with Hartwick.

Jeff Howe and Kevin Hamilton (who shares the lead in the scoring race with Ingram) pumped in five goals each for Hartwick. Glen Hall scored two more

Townhouse severances cannot be registered yet

Because the severances have yet to be passed, all the land is still registered in Rutale's name. Ownership of the individual units can not be transferred until the severances are finalized and each unit has a deed registered.

Rutale's proposal is for freehold townhouses, which means each unit, and the land it sits on, is individually owned. Without the severances, the whole project will remain in Rutale's name and he will be able to rent out the individual units but not sell them.

The combined worth of the 13 units is $1.8 million.

Rutale has bought additional land from the township and has applied to add three more units to the project, bringing the total number of units to 16. Building permits for the additional three units have not yet been issued.

Although Rutale's proposal was for freehold townhouses, he delayed applying for the severances until late in October.

The township permitted him to continue with construction of the units without the severances because he would still be able to maintain ownership of the entire complex and rent the units out instead of selling them.

The severances aren't necessary to build the townhouses. However, they are necessary to sell them.

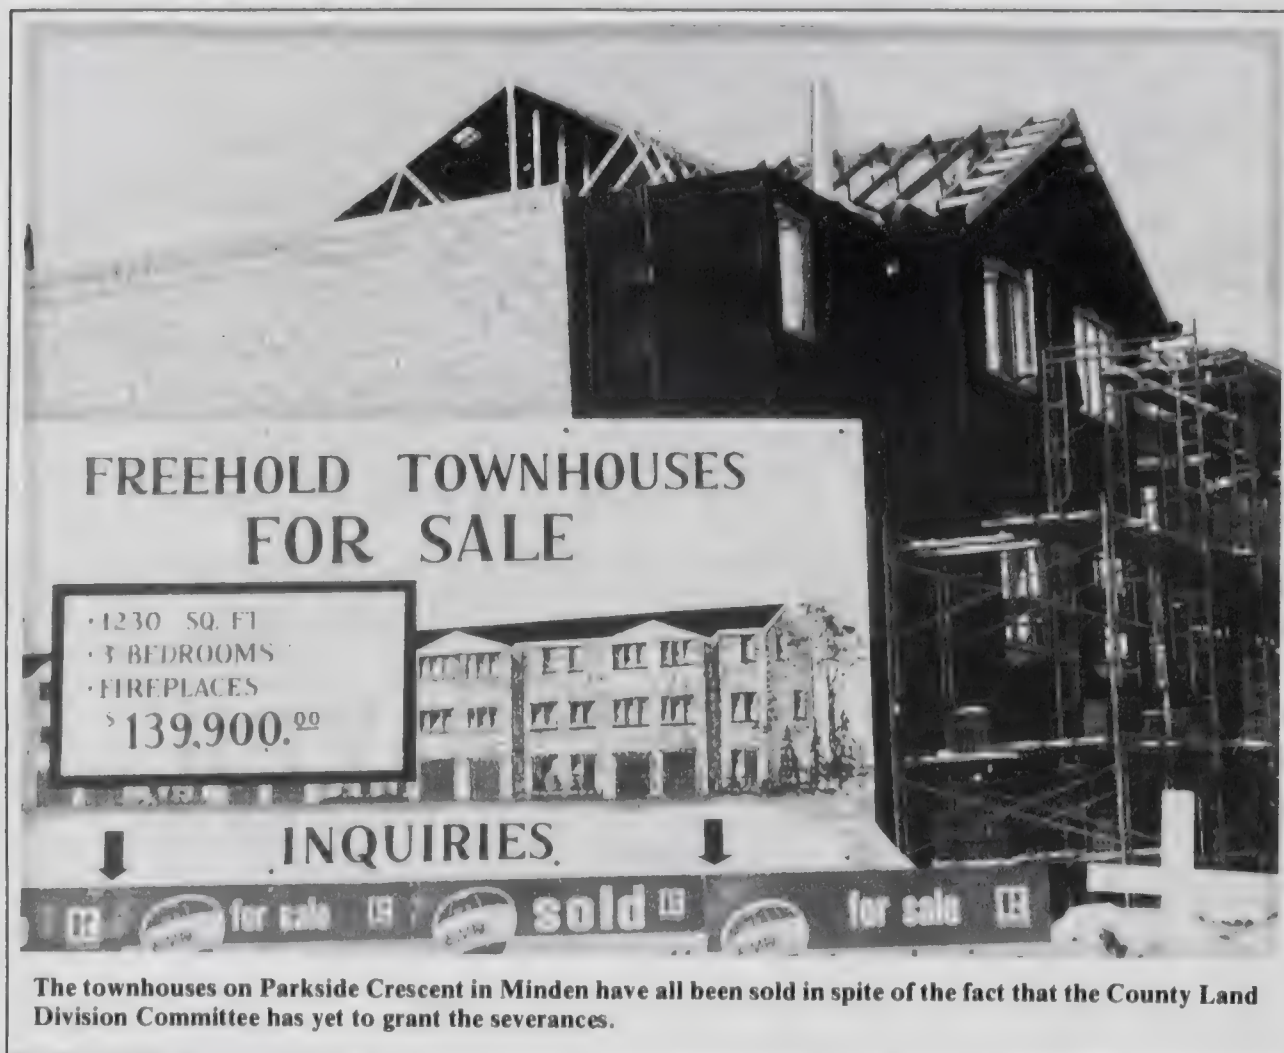

Because of the delay in applying for the severances, Rutale had to pay a $1,000 lot levy for each of the 15 new lots created. Minden's lot levy was not yet in place when Rutale first brought his development to council.

The matter is now out of the hands of the township. If Land Division fails to grant the severances, which is unlikely, Rutale may still legally rent out the units.

Registrar of Deeds Mel Flood says he will have no problem registering the individual units once the severances are passed as long as a reference plan of the site is submitted which sets out where each of the 16 lots is.

Land Division has deferred passing the severances until the Dec. 11 meeting. They will request that Rutale and Lehman attend the meeting to answer some of their questions.

Minden Novices fall to Fenelon

Saturday, November 11, Minden Tri-County Novice B team hosted Fenelon Falls.

Once again we were defeated. The final score was 4-1. Our only goal was credited to B.J. Redner. The Minden boys played a strong game, but couldn't get the puck past the Fenelon goalie again.

Carl Baldwin scored twice for Fenelon, once assisted by Teddi Williamson. The other goals were scored by Kenny Russell and Jamie Wright.

Atoms accept first loss from Beaverton

Submitted

The Minden Tri-County Atom team hosted Beaverton November 11 and now knows what it feels like to lose a game.

Beaverton walked away with a 2 - 1 victory and from what I understand, it was an off night for a lot of Minden's players as the energy level was at a minimum. The boys had lots of shots on goal, with equal action in both ends; however, not much connected for Minden. We have a good team, with all strong players and with a little extra effort, should be able to bring home another trophy this year.

One goal was scored in each period with Nathan Stephenson waiting until the 53 second mark of the third, to take a pass off the sticks of Donald Todd and Chuck Hopkins to close the door on any hopes of a shutout for Beaverton.

Goalie Ashley Walker is to be commended for some great saves during this game, also Ben Ripley who played very successfully both center and defensive positions.

Sat., Jan. 13	Fenelon Falls at Minden	3 p.m.
Tues., Jan. 16	Bobcaygeon at Minden	7 p.m.

Monday, November 13 down in Bobcaygeon there was a much better team effort displayed. The boys came away 4 - 0 victors with another shutout for Walker.

Bobcaygeon challenged the boys all through the game and certainly made them work for their goals. The first period saw many attempts but not until the 13 second mark did the first light go on.

Credits go to Nathan Stephenson for a double and Raymond Ranson with assists going to Donald Todd, Rob Camelon, Gavin Gartshore and Ben Ripley.

At the 7:06 mark of the third, Todd brought the puck deep out of his own end and took credit for a beautiful unassisted goal. Donald and Rob Camelon are two of our valuable defencemen and showed great stamina in this game as both boys never left the ice for the entire game. Great work boys!

Our next games are Tuesday, November 21 when Fenelon visits at 7 p.m. and Saturday, November 25 when Beaverton comes back again at 3 p.m. The action should be good in the Beaverton game as Minden will be ready to win this time.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Guides, Brownies meet

The 1st Minden Girl Guides started in September with a healthy registration of 22 girls. Fortunately we had eight older girls return to share their leadership skills with the 14 tenderfoot girls who had flown up from Brownies in the Spring.

We all had our fingers crossed in October hoping for an Indian summer while we hosted a weekend camp with the 1st Wilberforce Girl Guides. Despite the rain, we had a wonderful time, meeting fellow Girl Guides and renewing friendships made at the 1988 Camporee. We worked on badges, challenges and camp skills.

Each week we have been doing crafts to sell at our Craft Bazaar which will be at the Village Green on December 2. We'd like to thank Mrs. Pat Campbell for spending a Tuesday evening teaching us how to make arrangements out of things from nature. We also spent Saturday, November 11, at Debbi's house working on our various crafts. We are quite pleased with our creations and hope the public will support the Girl Guides. We are trying to raise funds to purchase camping equipment. We also plan to include a float in the Santa Claus parade.

On Friday, November 10, we participated in the Remembrance Day service at the cairn with the Archie Stouffer Elementary School along with the Brownies, Cubs, Scouts and Beavers.

Two of our girls and Faith attended a Christmas Craft Day for all of Woodland Division. Several of the Brownies and their leaders also attended from Minden. The four sessions of drama, music, art and dance were very well done and the girls came away enthusiastic and eager to share the new ideas with companies or packs.

The Brownies also had a healthy registration and were able to form two Brownie Packs. This would not have been possible without the devotion of the ladies who stepped forward to donate their time as leaders. Enrolment of leaders and all the new little Tweenies took place recently.

The Brownie leaders are co-ordinating a combined Christmas carolling with the Guides, Scouts, Cubs and Beavers on December 2. The groups will join their voices on the Village Green helping to set the mood for the Santa Claus Parade. Brownies are also helping sell the Lions Christmas Cakes. And they too will be entering a float in Santa's Parade.

Residents attend Remembrance Day service

Hello folks! The Ladies of the Gospel Church Minden provided the tea party Thursday. The Residents thank you for your lovely lunch and a happy afternoon.

In the evening Nick Fomenko came and called bingo for which we thank him for a pleasant hour.

Friday was Happy Hour and Ursula Nietsch provided the entertainment playing the accordion. Everyone enjoyed it and wishes to thank her, and look forward to her coming again.

Myrtle O'Halloran had her son and his wife for lunch Sunday. Myrtle is recovering from her fall satisfactorily. So is Alice Rivers.

Leon and Alice Jones were here Sunday afternoon to visit Annie Jones.

Mrs. Verna Jarvis was taken to the hospital on two occasions this week. We all hope she won't have to go again.

brance Day, members of the Legion 636 Minden volunteered to take anyone who would like to go to the Cenotaph for the service. We wish to thank those volunteers for their thoughtfulness.

Congratulations to Gladys Whyte on her birthday, November 15, 1989.

Happy birthday Gladys from Hyland Crest.

Sunday evening Chapel service was conducted by Rev. John Burgess.

Monday evening Ruth Rice and her husband came to show movies. One was "Beaver Pond", "All About Bears" and "Bonsat". They were very enjoyable.

Thank you Ruth.

Tuesday morning service was led by Pastor Fast and the residents enjoyed his service very much.

Last Thursday Terry and Norma took me with them to St. Thomas where we stayed overnight. Friday we went to Aylmer to the Police Academy to see the graduation ceremonies of the OPP class. Kevin had been there for ten weeks. His wife Claudia was there also. He is my grandson and is stationed at Apsley.

There was no bible study this week.

Remember the Bazaar and Tea on November 22 in the Hyland Crest auditorium.

Nila Reynolds was here on Wednesday to visit Pearl Lyle and Cora Upton. She brought them each a lovely bouquet of flowers.

Wednesday evening Pastor Murray held a service in the main lounge which many of the residents appreciate very much.

Eakins appointed to Heritage Day task force

Premier David Peterson has announced the appointment of Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins to chair the Premier's Task Force on Heritage Days. Simcoe Centre MPP Bruce Owen will act as vice chairman of the task force, which will examine the Ontario government's role in celebrating a number of historical provincial anniversaries between 1991 and 1993.

"In addition to a number of anniversaries of the province's constitutional beginnings, other important milestones in Ontario's social, cultural, and industrial past will occur in this period," Premier Peterson said. "We should begin to plan now so that the government can play an appropriate role with the community in recognizing and celebrating these historic events. I look forward to thoughtful and creative advice from John and Bruce".

Among the anniversaries the task force will consider:

-the 200th anniversary in 1991 of the passage of the Constitution Act which established Upper Canada;

-the 125th anniversary of Confederation and the 200th anniversary of the first session of the first Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada in 1992;

-the bicentennial of the founding of Toronto in 1993;

-the 200th anniversary in 1993 of the publication of the province's first newspaper, the Upper Canadian

Gazette in Niagara-on-the-Lake; and -the 75th anniversary of the first vote by women in the province in 1992.

The task force, which will work in co-operation with the Ministry of Culture and Communications, will consult with both municipal officials and provincial heritage and cultural organizations regarding potential participation. It will also examine how other Canadian jurisdictions have approached similar anniversaries. It is expected to report to the Premier within three months.

November W.I. meeting

by Jeanne Sears

There were eighteen members and one guest present at the November 15 meeting of Minden Women's Institute at the Cultural Centre. The President, Mrs. M. Sears, welcomed all and Alice Todd, a former member now a resident of Hyland Crest. The regular opening followed and business went on. There was some discussion about the Fashion Show Tea which we are serving, the evening of November 23. Maud Coulter gave a report of the Colour Tea and Jean Cox and Annie Kernohan are going to leadership day this Friday. Our delegate, Mrs. Sears, gave hi-lights of Area Convention at the Royal York Hotel Area, November 6 and 7. Mrs. D. Berry, convenor of Agriculture, gave us some ideas about modern farming and new machinery and computers used for this. Mrs. A. Kernohan then presented Jean Lacey with a gift in appreciation of her years as our President. There were several amusing items given by Mary Wilson and Maud Coulter. We are having a box ready at the next meeting for the 3C's Christmas gifts with members to give food or mitts etc. Next meeting is December 13 at 2 p.m. at United Church Hall with guests welcome and exchange of gifts, $3. The meeting then adjourned and a social time followed.

Exploding myths surrounding family violence

November is Family Violence Prevention Month and the YWCA Women's Safety Network has launched an information campaign as part of their ongoing fight against this social problem.

This is the second of a two-part series on wife assault.

Myth: Men who assault their wives are mentally ill.
Fact: Research shows that there is no higher percentage of mental illness among batterers than in the general population.

Myth: Alcohol causes a man to beat his partner.
Fact: Alcohol is often used as an excuse for the violence, but it is not the cause. Alcohol is involved in less than 50% of all domestic crimes.

Myth: Women provoke violence and therefore deserve what they get.
Fact: The term provoke implies wrongly that there are some behaviours that justify assault. Provocation is an excuse the offender uses to avoid responsibility for his own behaviour.

Haliburton County has a network of services available to individuals experiencing violence in their families. One of these services is the Haliburton Family Violence Men's Group.

The purpose of this group is to provide men with an opportunity to understand and to stop their aggressive behaviour. Our members range from those who have lost control, to those who are worried that their frustrations could lead to a loss of control.

This group is designed to create a non-condemning atmosphere for open, honest and confidential discussion. At the same time the group will provide support and encouragement for positive change. Many topics are covered over the twelve meetings. These include:

communication skills, feelings, defining violence and abuse, how alcohol relates, problem solving, effects of violence and abuse on all family members, self image, sex stereo types, future planning, breaking the cycle of violence and strategies for changing ones behaviour. For more information concerning the group and how to become involved, please contact the Men's referral and information line at 457-1088.

If you would like a member of the Co-ordinating Committee to speak with your group or organization about family violence contact the YWCA Women's Safety Network at 457-3355.

New piano will enhance Guild's Concert series

The Haliburton Highlands Concert Series will greatly enhance its performance through the purchase of a new grand piano with the help of a $3,500 grant announced by John Eakins (MPP-Victoria-Haliburton), on behalf of Culture and Communications Minister Christine Hart.

"The Highland Concert

Series provides wonderful performances for the residents throughout the Haliburton area," said Eakins. "It is very important that we support arts and cultural groups that bring our communities together."

The Highland Concert Series functions under the auspices of the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts, a non-profit organization that is committed to bringing professional artists to the Haliburton area.

"The arts contribute significantly to the quality of life in a community," said Hart. "I am pleased that my ministry supports the Haliburton Concert Series in their efforts to enhance their performance."

Offices collect Christmas bundles

The Haliburton District Real Estate Board today announced the launching of its "Christmas Wish Program". The program's goal is to collect gifts of non-perishable food, candy and toys for those in Haliburton County who would otherwise be without. Decorated boxes will be placed in all 21 real estate offices in the area, including Minden, Haliburton, Wilberforce. The public will be invited to drop off canned and packaged food, candy and children's toys at any of these offices. Of particular need is toys for older children between the ages of five and twelve. This is the group often overlooked when toys are donated. Prior to Christmas the gifts of food, candy and toys will be distributed through a local church group. "Our community is known for its generosity in time of need. Christmas is a special time and a wonderful opportunity to share our good fortune. I know everyone will get behind our "Christmas Wish Program" and make it a success."

We are happy to report that Jarrett Gentle is progressing well in St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto. According to his father, Joe Gentle, the teenager has been removed from life-support system since regaining consciousness. The doctors are very pleased with his progress and although it will be a long battle back, it would appear the corner has been turned on his road to recovery. Mr. Gentle also expressed his family's appreciation

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear Dad and Grandpa Phillip Arthur
Robinson who passed away
November 18, 1986.

Dad and Grandpa, how we long to see your smile
To sit and laugh and talk awhile.

You make our house a happy home
How proud we were to call you our own.

Our eyes so often fill with tears
But the memories are beautiful from past years.

And when our earthly toils are o'er We'll be with our dear one forever more.

Always missed by daughter Janice, son Bradley, son-in-law Jack and grandchildren
Doug and Karen.

IN MEMORIAM

SHAW. In loving memory of our two dear brothers. Charlie was passed away November 19, 1987, and Bob, January
22, 1988.

A cluster of precious memories,
Sprayed with many tears,
Wishing God had spared you,
If only a few more years.
You left us many memories
And sorrow too great to be told,
But to us who loved and lost
you,
Your memory will never grow old.

Sadly missed by Pearl &
Shirley.

DAVIES. In loving memory of our dear mother, Norma C.
Davies who was taken from us
November 23, 1986.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true
There is not a day dear mother
That we do not think of you.

Always remembered and sadly missed by her family, Steve & family, Tim and Tara.

DAVIES. In loving memory
of a dearly loved friend, Norma
C. Davies, lost to us November 23, 1986.

We often sit and think of her
When we are all alone
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

Very much missed and never forgotten,
Her Friends

In memory of our Father and Grandfather Charles William Shaw who passed away November 19, 1987.

Every day we look at the house over there
And wish so much that you were here.
You left us suddenly two years ago
For reasons we will never know.
We don't appreciate loved ones
till they are gone,
But our memories will live forever on.

Sadly missed by Jack and Janice, Barbara and John,
Susan and John, and Maxine and Art and families.

My dearest Phil I miss You
dear
And often wish that you were here.
But I know you are in heaven
above
And that you are surrounded by love.

In loving memory of my dear husband who passed away
November 18, 1986.
His wife, Florence.

IN MEMORIAM

COXHEAD, Kenneth. In loving memory of a dear husband and father.
There's a gift in life
That's special and rare,
It's love that a husband and a wife share.
A place in my heart is yours
alone,
A piece of love one can own.
For deep in my heart a memory is kept,
Of a husband I loved and will never forget.
I think of you in silence,
I make no outward show,
But just how much I miss you,
No one will ever know.
Always, Shirley and son David. families.

IN MEMORIAM

HUGHES. In loving memory of our dear sons and brothers who passed away suddenly.
Laverne August 20, 1978, and Lanny November 29, 1982.
How very close in memory
Are our loved ones every day.
For though they are gone,
Those treasured thoughts
Can never fade away.
But still they will grow sweeter
As the days and years go by,
For in beloved memory
Our dear loved ones cannot die.
Forever loved and missed by
